Cyberattack on Changhua County Meat Market: Changhua District Prosecutors Office immediately investigated the case for maintaining the market order and safety

Changhua District Prosecutors Office received a report from the police today that the computer system of Changhua County Meat Market was suspected to be cyberattacked, affecting the system's operation. The meat market was blackmailed by the hacker, threatening to disable the function of the auction system. The office assigned Prosecutor Chu Chien-Fu(朱健福) to command the Criminal Investigation Corps of the Changhua County Police Department to form a special task force to investigate the hacking suspected of criminal law offences of extortion and against computer security. The task force will scrutinise this case in depth, hunting down the suspects and clarifying the purpose behind the scene around the clock—maintaining the order and safety of meat market transactions.
